FOR QUESTIONS 31 TO 35, READ THE PASSAGE AND ANSWER THE QUESTIONS THAT FOLLOW.

The journey was set to be a long hard drive through the country and then up into the mountains to the north. Johan had never visited the mountains before because as a family they always went to the beach to relax and swim in the sea. This time though they were doing something different and Johan had been looking forward to going away with his father and his older brother. Before they went away they prepared clothes for 3 days although Johan thought to himself that they were actually away for a week. He knew that this meant that they would need to do some washing and hoped that there would be a washing machine where they were going because he knew they would spend at least two days in one of the villages.

It was important that they packed clothes for the snow because even though it was August there was still snow up in the mountains. It was his first trip to the highlands, so he was understandably nervous. He knew it would be tough walking but his father had told him about the fresh air and the views so he was still very excited even if a little concerned. Their plan was to reach the mountains after a couple of days of driving during which they would travel through several small villages. In fact, the reason for the trip was to go and see where Johan's father grew up. His dad grew up in a tiny village on the southern slope of one of the tallest mountains in the area. His family were farmers and mostly had sheep and goats because the terrain was
