READING

FOR QUESTIONS 16 TO 20, READ THE PASSAGE AND ANSWER THE QUESTIONS THAT FOLLOW.

Cartoons are drawings that make a point, tell a joke or a story. It can be about almost anything. Many cartoons are about the everyday life of the common people. Others are about the news, political leaders or historical events. Cartoons try to make people laugh.

Comic strips are a popular type of cartoon. A comic strip usually has four or more drawings in a row that tell a connected story. Comic strips feature a cast of characters, such as the children in the comic strip "Peanuts".

Other types of cartoons include political cartoons, gag panels, and animated cartoons. Political cartoons show what is wrong with the government or make fun of it. These are usually single drawings, but there are some political comic strips too. Gag panels are single drawings that make fun of everyday life. Animated cartoons are cartoons filmed as movies or television shows.

Cartoons can also be found in newspapers, magazines and books. Comic books and graphic novels are books filled with many comic strips or cartoons.

From prehistoric times, people have been using pictures to tell stories. Prehistoric artists drew pictures of animals on the walls of caves. In ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome, artists painted pictures on vases and walls. These pictures recorded historical events, the lives of important people and legends. From the 1500s to the 1700s people received the news through short printed works that had many pictures. Most of these pictures were early forms of political cartoons. Political cartoons became common throughout Europe and the United States during the 1800s. During the 1900s funny gag panels and comic strips became more popular than political cartoons.

FOR QUESTIONS 21 TO 25, READ THE PASSAGE AND ANSWER THE QUESTIONS THAT FOLLOW.

Once upon a time, there was a kingdom. The king there had only one leg and one eye, but he was very intelligent and kind. Everyone in his kingdom lived a happy and healthy life because of their king. One day the king was walking through the palace hallway and saw the portraits of his ancestors. He thought that one day his children will walk in the same hallway and remember all the ancestors through these portraits.

But the king did not have his portrait painted. Due to his physical disabilities, he wasn't sure how his painting would turn out. So, he invited many famous painters from his and other kingdoms to the court. The king then announced that he wants a beautiful portrait made of himself to be placed in the palace. Any painter who can carry out this task should come forward. He will be rewarded based on how the painting turns out.

All of the painters began to think that the king only has one leg and one eye. How can his picture be made very beautiful? It is not possible and if the picture does not turn out to look beautiful then the king will get angry and punish them. So, one by one, all started to make excuses and politely declined to make a painting of the king. But suddenly one painter raised his hand and said, "I will make a very beautiful portrait of you which you will surely like." The king became happy hearing that and other painters got curious. The king gave him the permission and the painter started drawing the portrait. He then filled the drawing with colours. Finally, after taking a long time, he said that the portrait was ready!

All of the courtiers, other painters were curious and nervously thinking, "How can the painter make the king's portrait beautiful if the king is physically disabled? What if the king didn't like the painting and gets angry?" But when the painter presented the portrait, everyone in the court, including the king, were left stunned. The painter made a portrait in which the king was sitting on the horse, on the one-leg side, holding his bow and aiming the arrow with his one eye closed. The king was very pleased to see that the painter has made a beautiful portrait by cleverly hiding the king's disabilities. The king gave him a great reward.
