The Mystery of the Missing Seeds

At Sunnybrook Elementary School, the students in Mrs. Patel’s class were excited about their new science project. They were going to plant a vegetable garden in the schoolyard! Everyone was assigned a task, and Aria was put in charge of planting carrot seeds.

On Monday morning, the class gathered in the garden area with small shovels and watering cans. Aria carefully planted the seeds in neat rows. The teacher explained how to water the plants and the importance of sunlight.

For the next few days, Aria watered the garden every morning. But on Friday, when she came to check, she noticed something strange, some of the carrot seeds were missing! The holes where the seeds had been were empty.

Aria told Mrs. Patel, and they decided to investigate. The whole class looked around the garden for clues. They saw small footprints near the garden beds and tiny holes dug in the soil. It seemed like an animal had visited during the night!

The next day, they set a small camera near the garden. That evening, when they checked the photos, they saw a clever little rabbit nibbling on the seeds! The students laughed and decided to build a small fence around the garden to keep their plants safe.

By the end of the month, the garden was full of green carrot tops. The students learned about teamwork, caring for plants, and how to protect their garden from animals. They were proud of their hard work and couldn’t wait to taste the fresh carrots soon.
