Worksheet No. 8	Topic: Diary Entry	Note: To be done in the notebook

A diary entry is a personal record where people write about their daily life, thoughts, and feelings. Each entry is written on a particular date, and the events are usually described in the same order in which they happened, which is called chronological order. To make the writing clear and easy to follow, we can use time words such as first or primarily, next, then, and finally. These words help to show the sequence of events and make the diary entry more organized and meaningful. Use description to add detail so the reader can build an image in their head.

11 th June 2026, Wednesday	9.30 PM
Dear Diary,
Today was truly memorable because I met my best friend after many months. First, we hugged tightly and laughed at how much we had missed each other. Next, we went to the park, played on the swings, and shared our favourite snacks. Then, we rode bicycles and talked about everything that had happened while we were apart. Finally, we sat under a tree, recalling old memories and making new plans. Meeting after such a long time made me feel grateful for our friendship and reminded me how precious true friends are.

SAMPLE 2

7.30 PM

Dear Diary,

Today was a difficult day. First, I realised I had left my homework on the study table at home. Next, when the teacher asked for it, I felt nervous and embarrassed. Then, I explained honestly that I had completed the work but forgot to bring it. Finally, my teacher gave me another chance but reminded me to be more responsible. I felt guilty yet grateful for the kindness shown. This mistake taught me the importance of being careful and organised.
